GRAND JURY INTERIM REPORTS ON EDUCATION AND HEALTH-HOSPITALS

VISALIA - Interim reports were released this week by two more committees of the 1971 Tulare County Grand jury - the Education committee, that includes a report on the County Library system; and the Health and Hospital committee.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE:

Land Preserves Create Problem

It is our responsibility to investigate the services of the County Department of Education and the County Library System. We have met with the chairman of the 1970 Education Committee; and we have interviewed the County Superintendent of Schools and the Assistant Superintendents for Business, Educational, and Personnel Services. We commend the Board of Supervisors for transferring duties to the County Board of Education for a "single budget" as recommended by the 1970 Grand Jury Education Committee.

In response to a parent's complaint, we talked to several local school district administrators about the free lunch program. This state and federal program makes a free school lunch available to children on Aid to Families with Dependent Children and a reduced price lunch to certain other children. We feel the program has been administered fairly in the districts we studied. The law requires that the program must be publicized by the districts that offer it and that it shall be provided in a way that does not shame the children who are eligible; we believe the districts are complying with these rules. Administrators reported that the program was a benefit to their school budgets since it reduced the pressure on district taxes to support a school lunch program. The program does put a considerable bookkeeping burden on schools, and state or federal rules should be simplified to encourage more schools to use it. Seven of the 39 elementary districts in this county have no school lunch program; several of the districts with lunch programs do not offer the free lunch program.

The district administrators we interviewed rated highly the services of the Tulare County Department of Education; they would not want to have it replaced by a regional schools office.

One of the urgent issues of education in this county is the reduced tax base of school districts as a result of land preserves. It is questionable whether the normal increase in assessed property will compensate districts for the reduced tax base. Therefore, this committee is endorsing a statewide property tax for schools. We have attached a summary of school district taxes with this report.

HEALTH, HOSPITALS:

Alcoholics Treatment Urged

The Health and Hospital Committee met with Administrator Ronald Nielsen, Tulare General Hospital; Dr. Lowell Chamberlen, Health Department director; Dr. Jude Hayes, Methadone Clinic director; Dr. Charles Davis, Mental Health director; Dr. Jackson Dillon, Program Chief of Mental Health Services.

The committee has attended monthly meetings of the Joint Hospital Conference and the Mental Health Advisory Committee.

The committee has visited the General Hospital, the Health Department, and all the mental health facilities of the county. Mrs. Hilmi Fuad, chairman of the Citizen's Committee on Alcoholism discussed the growing problems of alcoholism.

Visits were made to Well Baby Clinics and an inquiry was made into the health services of the County Jail.

Committee members were present at a public forum on the Methadone program.

As a result of these interviews and investigations, the committee calls the attention of the Board of Supervisors to the following:

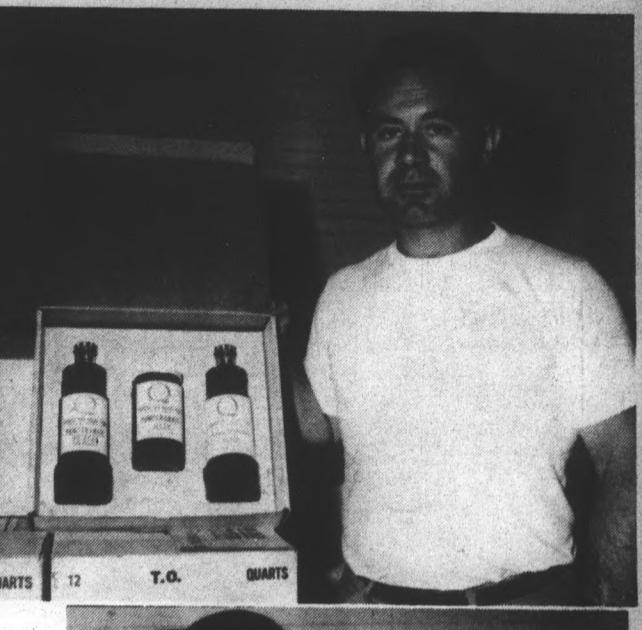

1. Due to the lack of specific treatment for alcoholics, the Board

STIEB FAMILY IS OPERATING CITRUS, POMEGRANATE JUICE BUSINESS LOCALLY

Health Food Stores Open State Market

POTERVILLE - What began nine years ago for George and Helen Stieb as a spare-time attempt to establish pomegranate juicing operations in Porterville, has recently begun to snowball into an industry with an apparently promising future which includes citrus juices as well.

Stieb, who is an oak floor finisher, olive and pomegranate grower, and employee of Southern Pacific railroad, started hand juicing operations with his wife and two sons in 1962. The family bought a warehouse on South E street in Porterville, and sold 100 gallons of pomegranate juice by the end of the first year.

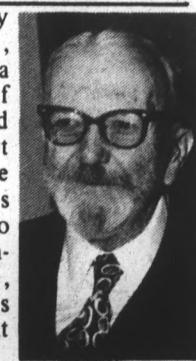

Stieb used the warehouse primarily as storage space for oak lumber, tools, and a workshop.

As demand increased for more juice, Stieb added machines to speed up the juicing operation - pomegranate press, boiler, and orange squeezer - and began to turn out 15 to 20 gallons of juice per day.

Stieb said his largest market today exists in health food stores throughout the state. Two months ago, he said, an order from a Los Angeles health food store called for 150 gallons of organically-grown pomegranate juice, and only 15 gallons were available.

A good demand also exists for orange juice, and Stieb plans to purchase two additional orange juicers this month, valued at approximately $2,000 each. This demand he said, is in San Francisco and Oakland, as well as in smaller cities throughout California.

Stieb also shipped his first order of orange juice to Porterville State hospital last week, and will continue on a regular basis if an agreement is

Editorial Comment

THE REAL POINT

There is a great deal of sincere interest in recycling solid waste as a major factor in the nation's efforts to preserve the environment. As is true in most such crusades, there also is some ulterior motivation involved.

This was demonstrated at a recent San Francisco conference of civic leaders and environmentalists when a representative of Ecology Action, of Berkeley, took a pot shot at the manufacturers of cans, whose representative was in attendance.

"Our major gripe against cans, as they are now," said Bob Rotenberg, "is that they cannot be reused without further energy loss."

"Energy" is the operative word.

Environmental extremists are as a matter of fact waging a direct war against the energy production without which this nation's economy cannot exist. "Environment" is their rallying cry in opposing nuclear power. "Environment" is the "victim" of all fuel-fired energy production.

No one wants polluted air or land or water. But the environmental extremists' alternative would be to pull the switch... turn off the toasters and the televisions and the plants and everything that uses energy. Turn off the world, turn off modern life. Don't consume so much.

These extremists can be superficially and dangerously persuasive. The American people should be aware of the real point of today's concern over our environment. It is to save what is good, to eliminate what is bad, to reuse instead of waste. Re-treatment, not retreat.

YOUTH AND THE NEWS

The San Francisco Examiner recently indulged in a youth experiment, turning over news and editorial responsibility for one day to a group of graduate students from UC Berkeley.

The result was about what one would expect, certainly in the feature and editorial pages. The young editors tossed out William Buckley and Dr. S. I. Hayakawa. They featured an article on black problems with the inevitable ---- obscenity. They sharply criticized both the Examiner and the S.F. Chronicle on their stewardship of the news. They wrote in the overblown way youth often does ("The puritanical horror that heroin evokes in most Americans . . ."; "Accurate, perceptive, and effective reporting inevitably makes important people uncomfortable.")

And they turned out what probably was a very well read paper.

We hope their success doesn't go to their heads, however, if they plan on a newspaper career. In this experiment, the Examiner editors gave them almost full rein. The hard-nosed city editor for whom they may work later, won't.

WARMER WEATHER BOOSTING CITRUS AND FIELD CROPS

VISALIA — Cotton is making better growth and beginning to show some bloom with the advent of warmer weather, according to Elvin Mankins, Tulare county agricultural commissioner.

High temperatures are also giving early plantings of corn and milo a boost, said Mankins, and have affected rangeland feed conditions only slightly thus far. Some field work has begun in preparation for fall milo planting.

Barley and wheat harvest are near completion. Sugar beet harvest is underway in some districts of the county.

Plums, peaches, and nectarines are currently being packed, and white astrachan apples being shipped. Early varieties of grapes are reaching maturity.

Valencia oranges are moving slowly on both domestic and export markets. New orange crops will be making good growth this month under warmer temperatures, said Mankins.

Tomatoes, cucumbers, squash, eggplant, and Bell peppers are being picked, showing good quality. Planting of fall tomatoes is taking place in small amounts.

must be completed and either in the fair office, or postmarked, no later than September 10.

Local classes are specified as open to Tulare county exhibitors only, or to exhibitors from specified counties; extended classes are open to the world.

Horse entry deadline is also September 10, with entries to go to the fair office. Listed in the Horse premium book are light horse breeding classes, performance classes, and horse show classes; breed classes include Appaloosa, Quarter horse, and Shetland pony.

SACRAMENTO — Assemblyman Gordon Duffy recently released preliminary results of a district-wide questionnaire mailed to registered voters in June.

Results of the first 5,000 returned questionnaires were: Concerning social welfare, 98 percent of those polled want able-bodied welfare recipients put to work on public service type jobs if necessary.

Withholding of state income tax was favored by 54 percent, 39 percent were opposed, and seven percent undecided. Legalized prostitution had 42 percent yes votes, 55 percent no, and three percent undecided. Capital punishment received 76 percent approval.

A small majority of voters favored state-controlled off-track betting and statewide lotteries as a means to raise additional revenue, said Duffy, but 57 percent were strongly opposed to Nevada-style gambling, with three percent undecided.

On the subject of drugs: 58 percent favored a statewide methadone program for hard-core narcotic addicts, 10 percent undecided; eight percent favored legalization of sale, possession, and use of marijuana, 89 percent voted no.

In light of the lowered voting age for state and local elections, 65 percent indicated they felt the minimum age for adult responsibility in jury duty, debt, contracts, drinking, and the right to sue and be sued should also be lowered.

Eighty-three percent of those polled voted in favor of having Medi-Cal beneficiaries pay at least a token payment for part of the care they receive.

The questionnaire also asked if more vocational schools should be available for those students not academically inclined. Eighty-nine percent indicated they would favor this approach, three percent were undecided.

Duffy said the purpose of the resolution was to focus attention on the urgent water needs of the eastern valley area where ground water levels are fast approaching the critical stage to meet current requirements.

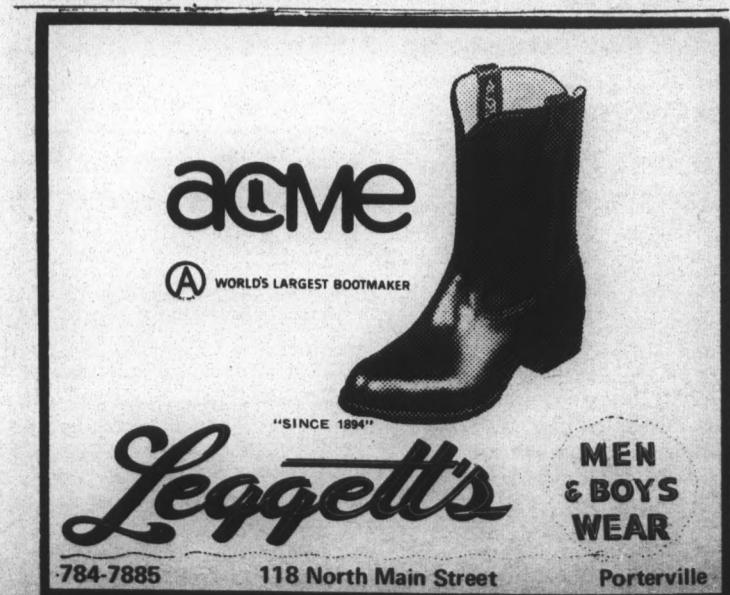

The resolution will be transmitted to President Nixon, secretary of the interior, U.S. commissioner of reclamation, speaker of the House of Representatives, Senators Tunney and Cranston, and to each of the 38 congressmen serving California.

For information regarding the livestock report, persons may contact Depew at 732-5511, extension 241, or Room 104E, County courthouse in Visalia.

State Officials Guarding Against Encephalitis

SACRAMENTO — Moving of horses from Texas to California may be halted indefinitely due to an epidemic of Venezuelan equine encephalitis, according to Dr. Louis Saylor, public health director in Sacramento.

Dr. Saylor said vaccination against western equine encephalitis would have no bearing on the Venezuelan disease, that a quarantine on Texas horses was possible, and a horse and mosquito surveillance program is underway in California.

The virus is carried from one animal to another by mosquito, and can bring the disease to humans. Specimens of equine encephalitis have been sent to the state laboratory in Sacramento for diagnosis.

In spite of the warm season many people are still managing to enjoy the outdoors. This is either a vindication of the pleasure of working with the soil or an indication that everyone is crazy with the heat. We tend to support the latter theory. However we cater to your wishes whether it be from pleasure or sunstroke and we invite you to drop by any time.

To indicate that we also have been out in the sun too long we are open seven days a week with a complete selection of bushes and flowering things. The last mentioned we have to water and care for somewhat so we would be glad to sell a few. We would even sell some of those which make good shade such as fruitless mulberry, weeping elm, Modesto ash, and maybe even a pine tree or two.

Mostly we enjoy selling flowers because they are so rewarding. Therefore we urge you to fill in a spot or two with marigolds, vinca, gomphrena, or moss rose. These would even bloom on the far bank of the River Styx if the devil remembered to provide the water. You should have even better growing conditions along with possibly having an old devil of your own to carry the bucket. We expect no let up in your efforts and as long as you are willing to plant we'll be here willing to provide. Come soon.

September Fly-In Will Feature More For Average Pilot

PORTERVILLE — EAA's sixth annual western fly-in will feature more activities for the average pilot, according to Gerald Massey, EAA chapter president.

Massey said that professional aerobatics will also play a big part in the September 4 through 6 fly-in, to be held at Porterville municipal airport.

Members of the Porterville Emblem club, chaired by Mrs. Arlie Morris, will be selling advertisement space in the fly-in program book. Porterville Jaycees are co-sponsoring the event.

Openings Exist In YMCA Adult Swimming Classes

PORTERVILLE — A special swimming class for adult beginners to intermediate is now offered Tuesdays and Thursdays from 5:30 to 6:30 p.m. at the Porterville YMCA Activity center.

The class is offered for adults who never learned to swim or who wish to correct bad swimming habits learned in the old swimming hole days, according to Dave Gallego, YMCA aquatic director.

Adult classes will continue until August 20, are free to YMCA members and open to non-members at a $10 registration fee.

A total of 110 swimmers are now enrolled in all swimming classes and thirteen in the diving class but openings are available in all classes. Each student advances at his own rate. All classes are free to YMCA members and open to non-members at a $10 fee per badge.

Swimming classes are divided into groups of five students to an instructor. Included on the staff of assistant instructors are Joe Bergfalk, Tom Buckles and Jeff Dove.

The Porterville YMCA has gained 10 lifeguards from its life saving class just ending. Three graduates have found employment at Porterville State Hospital, and one at Good Shepherd Home in Terra Bella, and one at Tulare County YMCA's Camp Tulequoa.

If sufficient interest is shown, a second life saving class will be scheduled to start in the fall.

Inquiries may be made at the Porterville YMCA Activity center, 747 North Sunnyside, phone 784-8192.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE:

The statewide property tax proposed by AB 1406 and SB 801 would have levied $1.87 for elementary, $1.50 for high school, and $.38 for junior college to replace the present rates; less than this total of $3.75 would not equalize local tax effort significantly and could result in override taxes that are no improvement over the present system.

2. The cost per pupil for schools in this county in the 1969-70 school year ranged from $426 to $1,336 for el, from $813 to $1,037 for hs, from $705 to $1,003 for unified.

The present system uses a guaranteed support level per pupil of $337 el, $512 hs, and $628 jc to compute the combination of local tax effort and state support for schools. $667 el, $874 hs, and $917 jc, as proposed in AB 1406 and SB 801, would be more realistic compared to actual costs.

3. The assessed value of property in a school district generally depends on the size of the district. The smallest assessed value in this county is Allensworth Elementary District (only $779,728, but it averages $23,521 per pupil for its 34 students). The largest school district in the county is COS.

4. Assessed valuation per pupil may be a better indication of a district's ability to support schools. In this county the range per pupil was $3,792 (Alta Vista el, with a tax rate of $2.29) to $69,940 (Ducor Union el, with a tax of $1.39).

5. The number of pupils, based on average daily attendance, is another indication of the size of a district. Elementary districts in this county serve from 34 to 4,650 (Porterville); 33 elementary districts had less than 900 ADA in the 1969-70 school year.

Two sons, Lawrence, 19, and Francis, 14, assist in the operation. Additional help is needed only during the pomegranate season, September through November, and during orange season which began a month ago.

Fruit is brought in crates by truck from a Lindsay packing house, put into cold storage, juiced, and poured into 50-gallon drums. The juice is then trucked to Fresno where it is frozen.

When an order is taken the drums are trucked to Visalia, quick-thawed, pasteurized, and bottled by Real Fresh milk company. The bottled juice is then returned to Porterville, labeled, and trucked directly to the store.

Peels from the oranges are taken to Tulare, dehydrated, and used in livestock feed.

"I'll never put Sunkist out of business," said Stieb, "but if the health food business isn't just a fad we'll be pretty busy around here for some time."

Latest development by the Stieb family is a Juice Gift Pak, which includes pomegranate jelly, syrup, and juice.
